

NEWS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NeuralMetrics Featured in the List of World's Top 100 Insurtech Companies

For the second year in a row, research firm FinTech Global includes NeuralMetrics in its InsurTech100 list, which recognizes innovative insurance industry solution providers.

NEW YORK, October 25, 2022 — NeuralMetrics, a supplier of actionable risk-assessment intelligence for P&C insurance organizations, today announced its repeat recognition by specialist research firm FinTech Global as a top 100 technology company driving innovation in the insurance ecosystem.

To identify the insurtech innovation leaders, a FinTech Global panel of analysts and industry experts reviewed and voted on an expansive list of more than 1,800 companies. The finalists were selected for their innovative use of technology to address significant industry challenges or generate operational efficiencies across the insurance value chain.

"This continuing recognition validates our company's commitment to help enrich the experience of underwriters and accelerate data access and digitalization across the underwriting value chain," said Prakash Vasant, NeuralMetrics CEO. "As a strategic partner to insurers, we deliver transparent and industry-compliant data products to boost underwriting efficiency, create bandwidth for high-value tasks, and improve premium pricing accuracy. NeuralMetrics enables underwriters to write more — and better — business, build lasting stakeholder relationships, and boost both productivity and profitability."

The NeuralMetrics SmartRatio solution furnishes NAICS and other insurance codes for highly accurate classifications of diverse businesses and industries. Propelled by rigorous business classification, the AI-powered SmartRatio product automatically discovers and answers critical risk-evaluation questions to determine underwriting eligibility, drive straight-through processing, strengthen portfolio management, and energize growth for insurers.

The complete 2022 InsurTech100 list for 2022 is available here: www.TheInsurTech100.com.

###

About NeuralMetrics

NeuralMetrics facilitates meticulous commercial lines underwriting and comprehensive lead/prospect management for property/casualty insurers. The company's AI-powered data-aggregation platform extracts industry-compliant risk-assessment intelligence instantaneously and transparently from dynamic, public information sources. NeuralMetrics enables reliable rating classification, incisive underwriting, and precise policy pricing, plus sourcing and prequalification of desired accounts. For more information, visit www.neuralmetrics.ai.

Media Contact

Candace Boyle (for NeuralMetrics)
the10company
candace.boyle@the10company.com
(610) 256-1068